We all know about CRUD [1]. Every app out there does it. It is essential to interact with the data those apps present to us after all. As a user, this all feels intuitive and expected. So implementing CRUD should be easy, right?

Answer, right off the bat: no. Answer, with a bit more nuance: depending on the system, no. Answer, in full this time: Jina is complex, so no.

devs: CRUD is easy, right?
